Carmel Valley in the summertime . . .

RY FRIES, like many others, found a cool and comfortable way to enjoy the 4th of July Holiday in cool and comfortable Carmel Valley.

EDITORIAL

Are we being forgotten?

We sometimes wonder if there isn't a feeling in some official quarters that Carmel Valley wants to keep itself some kind of rustic hide-a-way. Accessible to and from the Monterey Peninsula and Salinas, of course, and even to Greenfield, but not too accessible.

It may not be fair to draw such a conclusion strictly on the basis of what the Valley chamber president described as "no evidence of progress" in repairing Carmel Valley Road.

But it isn't just that the business people and the residents of the Village area of the Valley are somewhat disturbed at the casual approach to fixing up the road where it washed out almost six months ago.

It's also that the entire Valley is getting a bad image, and the many summer visitors can't help but be inconvenienced, not to mention getting lost, when they want to take a look at the entirety of this beautiful Valley.

It is true that the Valley wants to retain its image as one of the few populated areas where nature and man live harmoniously, with the natural beauty of the slopes unimpaired, and where irritating neon signs and blemishing billboards are outlawed.

But the public here isn't trying to make this area off-limits to the public in general, and in fact feels it should enjoy the same kind of conveniences insofar as public roads are concerned as anyplace else.

As it is, few would say that the Miramonte detour is contributing very much to this situation, and the one-way passage on Carmel Valley Road in the same area is just as bad and a disgrace to boot.

It gives few autoists any feeling of security to drive along and see the roadway treacherously eroded, and mountains of unsightly dirt piled up to the point where it appears that one is entering some kind of uncompleted tunnel.

Since those people who are making the decisions on fixing up this deplorable situation don't ever have to use this heavily-traveled road, their disinterest can be understood, though not necessarily forgiven.

We in the Valley have put up with this situation for six months now, and were almost resigned to putting up with it for another six months, since most of us are understanding by nature.

But now it appears that this "emergency" situation is about to become permanent, at least permenent in the sense that it may be years instead of only months before something is done about it.

It's too bad that the Valley population doesn't launch a massive letter-writing campaign to the county road commissioner, the county supervisor, the state assemblyman and senator, and even to our representative in Congress. That would guarantee results...fast.

As it is, we have a section of "divided highway" unscheduled though it may be, on a mile or so of Carmel Valley Road. But it isn't exactly what we were promised, or deserve.

And the hide-a-way image which these remote and unknown officials are apparently basing their judgments on: they should be told by someone that it is for esthetic purposes only; we have no desire at all to be isolated from the rest of California.

Can anyone help us?

July 6, 1969

Dear Sir:

This first week of July we have had two beautiful deer killed by cars on Carmel Valley Road. One lay, alive, with its back broken, for several hours before it was reported to the S.P.C.A., and put out of its misery.

Why do we not have several signs, "Watch out for Deer", along the Carmel Valley Road, on both sides, so that motorists may be warned, and can be watching for these animals?

It is ridiculous that a twelve-mile stretch of road, which deer must cross to get to water, has only one sign at each end. Surely the County, or the State, or whatever agency is responsible, can appropriate the funds necessary, and take the time, to put up half a dozen signs, on both sides of the road, spaced evenly through the Valley, for this purpose.

It is not only a question of conservation and common humanity. It is also a matter of safety. A deer hit on the road when it is full of cars can cause a major accident, and cost human lives. I have seen this very thing very nearly happen. With a little intelligent planning we can have our deer, a beautiful part of Carmel Valley, and at the same time avoid the danger.

I urge you to take appropriate action that this deplorable situation may be promptly remedied.

Yours truly,
MRS. VICTOR M.COLTON

PRONOUNCEMENT

We'll bring them home next year, he says. Big Deal!
But did not specify alive or dead;
Or little bits of bodies left behind
To rot, in character with humankind.
Two hundred thousand troops, is what I read,
To be withdrawn. I'd say that's quite a spiel!

A war that can't be won? Why did it start?
Is life so cheap that we can toss away
Our precious youth and still no profit show,
Or reason why, or strike a needed blow
To fend attackers off? Make holiday
This July Fourth? Who's got the heart?

Who singled out my son to give his all
To save some foreign stranger's paddy field?
And will this stranger help my cause in turn,
Or man the hoses if my house should burn?
And who's to say when sore spots have been healed
And no more need to stand the bugle call?

Yes, bring them home! That's fine! But all alive!
To hold them to our breast when they arrive.
And, when the battle flags are safely furled,
Let others, if they want to, save the world!

Chamber membership climbs to 78; road problems aired at meeting

The Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce now has 78 paid members.

This was reported to the board of directors at its monthly meeting last week by Rae Black, secretary.

Joe Ricupero, membership chairman, said that the campaign for new members is continuing. Latest to join are Tierra Grande Cleaners, Adina's Beauty Shop, June Turner's Boutique and Dr. Robert Malloy.

The 78 is 7 more members than all last year, and may have set a record for Valley chamber membership.

The Chamber president, Robert Kvenild, announced the appointment of Herb Brownell and Charles Strathmeyer as directors. They fill two vacancies on the board, formerly occupied by Bill Norton and Ramona Weer.

A solicitation of funds to aid the Village Committee in its beautification program is now underway. So far $35 has been contributed. No general funds of the chamber will be used for this purpose. It was also pointed out at the meeting that the beautification program now being carried out in the Pilot Road and Del Fino Place area is being done entirely by business places located in that area.

ROAD REPAIRS

At its May meeting, the chamber was told by Bruce McClain, county road commissioner, that it would be the end of the year before Carmel Valley Road would be repaired.

He was referring to the washouts near Miramonte Road that occurred during the winter rainstorms, and which have since limited traffic to one-way east on Carmel Valley Road, with all westbound traffic detoured onto narrow, twisting Miramonte Road.

Kvenild indicated that there is now some question as to whether even this late date will be met. He stated that it was his understanding that federal officials had returned the engineering proposal to state and county officials for further review, since the cost was considerably higher than original estimates. One figure mentioned was $600,000 for rebuilding Carmel Valley Road at the washout area alone.

Federal funds are available to meet most of the costs of the repair, since it qualifies for emergency assistance. However, Kvenild observed that Carmel Valley appears to be on the "forgotten" list, since no other major roads in the county are known to have been denied funds resulting from the winter floods.

The concensus at the meeting was that the chamber contact McClain and Supervisor Willard Branson again to find out just where the repair project stands now. A report is expected at the August chamber meeting.

Yellow flashing warning lights on Carmel Valley Road, near Country Club Drive, should be installed by August 1, Kvenild said. Originally the board had been told that the lights would be in sometime last month. The warning signals are designed to help prevent accidents at a double curve section of Carmel Valley Road, the most dangerous between Highway 1 and the Village.

STUDY TURNED DOWN

A proposal advanced by Kvenild that a feasibility study be undertaken on a possible alternate route to Carmel Valley Road in the Village area was turned down informally by the board.

Neill Engineers had indicated that they would make such a study for $500. Herb Brownell raised the question as to whether the chamber should use its funds for such a purpose. The county has made surveys in the past of such alternate routes, it was pointed out, and would have jurisdiction in any event when a decision is made on any future changes in the location of the main thoroughfare through the Valley. The road commissioner will be asked what the status is of these studies, and what priority improvements or relocation of the Road has in the county's projected road programs.

HUGE PILES OF DIRT AND ROCK, over a thousand feet of them, extend along Carmel Valley Road near Miramonte Road. Hopefully, they will be used to help rebuild sections of the road washed out last January and February when the Carmel River went on a rampage. Meanwhile the local chamber of commerce is trying to find out if the repair project has bogged down – and the mountains of unsightly fill will remain there indefinitely.

SKUNK CAUGHT IN VALLEY FOUND NOT TO BE RABID

A skunk, thought to be rabid, was captured last Thursday near Los Laureles Grade and Carmel Valley Road by Mrs. Gwendolyn May, state humane officer and director of the Peninsula Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Called to the area, Mrs May observed the strangely acting skunk which, when approached, first walked away and then turned to attack her. Even though she had only one glove with her, she felt it was necessary to capture the skunk lest it escape. Trying to hold the animal's head and tail with one hand and attempting to inject the animal with the other, she was bitten on the finger.

The fact that the skunk tried to attack her and not use its normal method of defense convinced Mrs. May that the skunk might have been rabid.

Tests since have been completed, and were negative – the skunk did not have rabies.

Talking with Mrs. May she said, "The behavior of the animal was, indeed, abnormal and it is now presumed that it was indicative of a mental problem, possibly associated with a brain tumor or poison."

"It is important at this time," she continued, "that people do not panic! Even though the tests did prove negative, however, people should watch their pets."

Emphasizing the phrase "don't panic" she warned, that if anyone should find an apparently wild animal either injured or sick, they should contact the S.P.C.A. at 373-2631 or herself (Mrs. Gwendolyn May) at 659-2156. "Don't attempt to aid the animal yourself or try to injure it either. Don't take chances, but don't panic either," she said.

Mrs. May will continue to take the rabies injections on the advice of her physician as an "ounce of prevention".

"People shouldn't be fearful of the rabies injections. They are not as bad or painful as people have been led to believe and their effect is certainly not as extreme as rabies," she said.

Time to think of school again?

Monterey County's more than 60,000 public school students are in the midst of summer play, family outings and general fun which must inevitably end with fall and resumption of school.

For most of those students, County Schools Superintendent Ed Coffin said today, that cessation of holiday frivolities comes on Sept. 2 when 22 of the county's 27 school districts reopen.

Among exceptions to the Sept. 2 opening date are Carmel Unified School District on Sept. 4 and Monterey Peninsula College on Sept. 10.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan 659–2468

THE RICHARD KINGS on Country Club Drive, who had been discussing the purchase of a new station wagon with their neighbors, really created a stir when a mammoth double decker scenic cruiser bus suddenly appeared in their driveway and seemed to make itself very much at home!

Residents of the area were reassured to learn that it was only the conveyance which had transported a group of Girl Scouts to the Valley and would not be jockied up and down the hill by Mary Kaye! Fifteen of the high school age Scouts had formerly belonged to a troop led by Mary Kaye. Accompanied by their present leader, Mrs. A.W. Peterson, these girls came from Yorba Linda. Seventeen others were from neighboring La Habra and were accompanied by Mrs. Kay Upman and Mrs. David Effinger. Enroute north the girls had stopped for lunch and enjoyed exploring the fascinating Danish community of Solvang. They arrived in the Valley in time to set up a dormitory at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel and to dine at the Casa Carmela.

The shops and beach of Carmel were scheduled the next day followed by the Adobe tour of Monterey where they particularly enjoyed the first jail.

Dinner on the Wharf endeared them forever to the hearts of the fishermen. Most of the girls purchased whole crab, a loaf of bread and coached by an expert from New Orleans, Julie Peterson, they "dined" on Fisherman's Wharf! ('Tis said that the amused tourists watching developed a yen for the shell fish delicacy and crab sales soared!)

Back to the Chapel the girls were stringing "happy bells" on leather thongs purchased on the Wharf and their project kept Mary Kaye occupied assisting long enough for the girls to assemble a delightful surprise baby shower for her. The festivities included gifts (many had been brought from their homes), cake, punch and coffee, and a special invitation to their genial bus driver to join them.

Learning that the road to China Camp was too much for their luxury bus to navigate, they rented a smaller bus which shuttled the girls to the trail's beginning of their hike to Big Sur. All were experienced hikers equipped with sturdy shoes and clothing except for Julie Peterson whom the girls kept a watchful eye on and frequently slipped rations out of her pack to make her first arduous journey more enjoyable. They swam in forest pools along the way and were able to report to forest rangers that the winter rains had badly demolished trails at the other end.

Here Mary Kaye met them with a car load of fresh meat, salad greens, soft drinks and reservations for ..... SHOWERS!!! On the way home they toured Hearst Castle. Their junket cost $30 per girl and all of the money had been earned by them. They left a gift of appreciation for the Chapel to help the community remember them. Anyone fortunate enough to have met this wholesome group of young people will have little trouble remembering their infectious enthusiasm, their dedication to adventure and their determination to get involved.....in things worthwhile.

Their Valley trip was preparatory for many of the group for a back pack from Fresno over the Sierras to Bishop.....Happy Hiking!!

A RECENT VISIT to a farm at Williams, California, was so happily reminicent of her life in Pennsylvania that Mrs. Mabel Love has been persuaded to return in October to help harvest the walnut crop.....last year the trees owned by her hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Mack MacKinley yielded THREE TONS! River Road's favorite resident accompanied by her grandsons, Mike and Mark, of Pacific Grove, made the trip by bus. They were immediately caught up in the busy farm life with the MacKinley children, four boys, a girl and all of the chores including gathering eggs and milking cows. A real treat for city youngsters like the Friddle children.

THE SURPRISE ARRIVAL of Lois and Tom Henderson added excitement to the July Fourth weekend. One of the Valley's favorite Navy families who have been living in the East for two years while Tom was stationed at Annapolis have been reassigned to the West Coast. With youngsters Laurie and Allen, they have purchased a home in San Diego and are house guests of Mrs. Frank DeAmaral Jr. on Ford Road while visiting their many Valley friends.

IT'S A GRANDCHILD.....their FOURTEENTH.....for Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Horne of Chapparal Road. The happy announcement was phoned by their daughter, Diane, who lives in Antelope Valley. Veronica is the name chosen for their seventh child who weighed 6 lbs. 8 oz. Other children of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald S. Waite are Lois Jeanette, Stephen Franklin, Lisa Marie, Peter, Marie Celine and Anastasia Marie. Also adding their welcome to little Veronica were an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Gayman, and cousins Brett, Todd and Scott of Paso Hondo.

BIDDING RELUCTANT FAREWELLS to Shelia and Sam Leanza were the many friends made on the Peninsula during their residency on Aliso Road. Sam, who has been employed in Pacific Grove, has accepted a position with the University of Ohio so they are returning to their home state. The three Leanza sons spent a last afternoon on Monday at the Community Swimming Pool before leaving for Disneyland and a visit with Shelia's brother in Texas on their way home.

IT IS A KNOWN FACT that Carmel Valley abounds with talented people. What many fail to realize, however, is that it is also seething with hidden talents. Take Mrs. Dale Buche for instance. Just to look at this attractive resident of Robles del Rio, one would never dream that when it comes to deep sea fishing, Gail takes a back seat to no one.

One of the chaperones to accompany the youngsters from the Carmel Unified School district to La Paz, Gail decided while waiting for the youngsters to settle into the routine of their Mexican families, that she would fish for marlin.....that marlin didn't have a chance! Gail landed the SEVENTH–FIVE POUND beauty alone and daily stops by the post office to see if her mounted trophy has arrived.....

Mrs. Dale Glascow, also a Robles del Rio resident on the Mexican trip, is just too petite to fit the mental image of a fisherman but her catch was a nice dolphin that fed the Valley-ites and their guests.

EVERYONE knows that flowers and Oscar Durham of Upper Circle are a natural combination, but few had heard of his vegetable garden until the invitations began arriving for those friends Dorothy and Oscar knew particularly enjoying a "Maggie and Jiggs special", corned beef and cabbage. One head that he harvested last week tipped the scales at eleven pounds.

THE COMMUNITY SWIMMING POOL opened last Monday morning in time for classes only because Jim Fosnot, agile coach of the swimming team, was willing to go above and beyond the call of duty. Seems that a small relative of Jim's flushed the Valley's only set of keys down their plumbing.....an act which turned Coach Fosnot into an instant cat burglar and Voila! Swim team practice and classes began on time. ***

EVERY CHILD POSSESSES a hidden talent for spending money.....even when it ISN'T money as proven by the little tyke who came proudly waving his certificate stating completion of a three week course in swimming offered the Valley pre-schoolers and shrieking, "Mommy, Mommy, can we go spend it?" ***

A SALUTE TO THE FOURTH OF JULY was the Benefit Bridge and Canasta sponsored by St. Dunstan's last week at the hilltop home off Laurel Drive of Mrs. Fred Fisher. Co-hostesses assisting Marguerite were Mrs. James Cecka and Mrs. Philip Walker. Small glass vases filled with blue water and containing arrangements of red, white and blue carnations, Shasta daisies, and Fever-Few were centered with miniature bouquets of tiny, red, white and blue straw flowers donated by Jerry Eglund of the Flower Bucket.

The hostesses had tied the arrangements presented as table prizes with ribbons of the three hues. Tallies and napkins were decorated with "Old Glory." Winners of the table prizes were Mmes. Edna Smith, Gertrude Sanford, Mary Kunz, Barbara Robbins, Ruby Meyers, Martha Huff, Flo Holm, Mike Cecka, Natalie Compas, Helen Fitch and Bertha Hildebrand. A high in bridge was won by Flo Holm, the second award to Martha Huff. Canasta winners were first place to Bertha Hildebrand and second to Helen Fitch. The July party will be held July 23 at the Cypress Lane home of Muriel Dawson. Ladies are invited to make up a party and phone Mrs. Philip Walker, 659-2280 by July 18.

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy

of the Oleander Garden Shop

Just before we came to live in the Valley, there was "cutting day" or plant exchange held in Colton Park in Monterey. I went there in the morning with my meager contributions. But by that time most of the better things were taken. I spotted a gallon can containing a small, forlorn pittosporum eugenioides, about 3 inches tall, stuck in the middle of the can waiting for someone to adopt it. So I did, and after a month or so we moved to Carmel Valley and I planted that little seedling. Now it is over ten years old and about 15 feet high and I was standing under it the other day enjoying its shade while watering nearby shrubs, and reviewing its life.

These days you see thousands of moths hovering around a poor oak tree. These moths are the same caterpillars which you observed a while ago on the leaves of oaks. The caterpillars became cocoons and rested for a while in this stage and then emerged as moths. The females are busy depositing their eggs now on the leaves and these eggs will hatch around August-September. They should be sprayed with a relatively safe insecticide such as "sevin".

I am glad to see the public becoming more aware of the dangers of DDT and its allies. Many writers and scientists in the past wrote about its ill effects on the health of our environment, but it seems that it takes a long time to stir the general consciousness. It is estimated that about one billion pounds of DDT and its toxic derivatives are now in circulation in our environment. The molecules of these insecticides do not break down easily. Even if we would stop using them tomorrow, there would still be a half-billion pounds sharing our environment with us in 1979, so you can see how serious is the problem. A quarter billion pounds will still be with us in 1989. Some persons who died of liver ailments were found after autopsy to have had DDT in the liver.

If you are buying a house, try to get from the owner the ground plan and the location of the building on it (plot plan). This will save you much time when you develop your garden or perhaps add on to your home, by having the measurements all put down on paper. You can get as many copies of it as you want for little money by taking it to a store where they have a copy-machine. You can plan your garden on this sheet of paper which shows the dimensions to scale and also north, south, east and west. If you do not like the first or the second plan, you can always throw it away and use a new sheet. In case you are unable to get such a plan, you can draw one by using square-ruled paper; let each square on the paper represent a square foot. Using a 50 or 100 foot tape will simplify measuring.

Linnaeus, the Swedish botanist who is credited with the scientific nomenclature of plants, once said of the unfolding of a blossom: "I saw God in his glory passing near me and lowered my head in worship". Something of the same thought is expressed in the following poem:

Flower in the crannied wall
I pluck you out of the crannies,
I hold you here, root and all, in my hand
Little flower – If I could but understand
What you are, root and all, and all in all,
I should know what God and man are.

– Tennyson

Navajo artist to exhibit at Museum

Contemporary Indian silver and paintings by the Navajo artist Harrison Begay are included in the special July exhibition at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History.

The wide assortment of handmade sterling silver jewelry was made by a number of Navajo and Zuni craftsmen. The pieces are lavishly decorated with turquoise or left plain according to the esthetics of their makers. Many of the pieces follow the traditional pattern repeating the characteristic designs of squash blossoms, Moorish crescents and turquoise flowers. Newer innovations are animal forms made by inlaying silver with turquoise, shell and jet.

Harrison Begay is perhaps the best known of all the Navajo painters. His work has been collected by numerous museums and is widely reproduced in ARIZONA HIGHWAYS and other magazines concerned with the Southwest.

The exhibition will remain on view through July 27. The museum is located at the corner of Forest and Central Avenues in Pacific Grove. Hours are 10:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. daily except Monday.

Site not yet selected for new Valley Postoffice

There will be a new postoffice built in Carmel Valley in the near future, but just where is still undecided.

This report was made at the monthly meeting of the Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce last week at the Robles del Rio Lodge.

Herb Brownell, Lou Gardner and Pat Swan gave details on the proposed new government building which had been discussed earlier in the week at a meeting of the Carmel Valley Commercial Property Owners Association.

At that meeting Sam Brandt, postmaster, said that postoffice officials are studying several possible sites, and are particularly concerned that the building not only be in a suitable location, but that it conform to the standards and appearance typical of other commercial buildings in Carmel Valley.

Among the sites under consideration is one across from the Murphy Lumber Yard, on Ford Road and Carmel Valley Road, as well as others.

The present postoffice at the eastern edge of the Village area is completely inadequate, and the proposed new building will be several times larger. The original Carmel Valley postoffice was located in what is now Rosie's Cracker Barrel in Robles del Rio.

Since the volume of business has climbed steadily, the new postoffice will likely be a first class postoffice.

The Chamber is making no recommendations on a new site.

Ed Marcucci, chairman of the county planning commission, told the chamber meeting that a house numbering program now being carried out in the Carmel area will be extended to the entire Valley in the near future. This will facilitate mail deliveries and aid in the identification and location of all residences and business places.

Property Owners to discuss status of 2½-acre lot minimum

The Carmel Valley Property Owners Association is meeting Wednesday night of this week and the main topic is the status of its campaign for a 2-1/2 acre minimum lot size for the slopes of Carmel Valley.

The matter has been before the board of supervisors for the past two weeks.

This week's meeting of the association is slated for 8 o'clock at the Community Center.

At its July 24 meeting, the Property Owners group will hear Ed DeMars, county planning director, discuss the Valley Master Plan.

Starts Thurs., July 10th

Michael Keller heads fine cast in 'Walter Mitty' musical

IN "ERNEST IN LOVE" at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant, the romance between Gwendolen (Suzann Newell) and Jack (Nick LeFeuvre, Jr.) is opposed by her mother, the imperious Lady Bracknell (Anita Tonn), for reasons expressed in the show-stopping song "A Handbag Is Not A Proper Mother." The musical version of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance Of Being Ernest" runs nightly except Monday and Tuesday until August 2. Reservations may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

A cast of twelve talented and experienced performers have been cast in varied and colorful roles in the charming new musical version of "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty", based on the classic story by James Thurber. It will open Friday at the Circle Theatre, Carmel, under the sponsorship of the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula, Inc.

Michael Keller, who trained at Northwestern University and graduated from the Pasadena Playhouse, will play the title role of "Walter Mitty". Keller has worked in professional theatre, and currently has two films in release by M-G-M in which he has featured roles. This is his third acting role at the Circle, having appeared there ten years ago as the Dauphin in "The Lark", and a year and a half ago as Elwood P. Dowd in "Harvey".

Jean McBride, the lovely heroine of the Circle's record-breaking hit of "Ten Little Indians", will this time play Mitty's well-intentioned but nagging wife, Agnes. Miss McBride is a graduate in theatre at Texas Christian University, was a member of the Theatre Three Company in Dallas, and spent two summers at the Alley Theatre in Houston.

Layne Littlepage, fresh from three years of theatre training at San Francisco State College, will play the tippling nightclub chanteuse, Willa de Wisp. Last year Layne was honored by San Francisco State by being given the Best Actress Award.

Shawn Guild plays Mitty's adoring daughter, Peninnah. Shawn has played in many productions at MPC and at the Studio. She attended the University of Hawaii and is currently majoring in theatre arts at San Francisco State.

Milton Hayes has been cast as the "love 'em and leave 'em travelin' man," Fred Gorman. Hayes is a very versatile and creative young actor, having appeared on all the Peninsula Little Theatre stages. His last role at the Circle was that of the sinister Dr. Armstrong in "Ten Little Indians".

Mark Oman will essay the role of the body-building weight-lifter, Irving. Mark studied at UCLA and Valley State College. He created, wrote and acted in "Summer Sundae", a short-subject film, which was one of the ten finalists in the 1968 Academy Awards.

Jim Jordan, veteran of the Troupers of the Gold Coast at the California First Theatre, and with leading roles to his credit at the Studio, has the role of the happy bartender, Harry.

Wendy C. Harden will portray the talkative Hazel. Wendy studied five years at Stanford, and at the University of Oregon won the Best Actress award.

Bonnie Rae Dowd is cast as the hard-nosed Ruthie. Bonnie has studied voice for four years and was the 1967 Miss University of Idaho.

A trio of talented actors will assume many different roles in "Mitty". They are Tim Gleeson, who will be remembered for his portrayal of the would-be detective Blore in "Ten Little Indians"; Jonathan Reynolds, who played the supporting lead in "Carnival"; and Sandra Jordan in her first role at the Circle.

"The Secret Life of Walter Mitty", directed by Roy Baxter with music direction by Tom Fordham, will play Wednesdays through Sundays at 8:30 — alternating weekly with "Sweet Charity" — through Labor Day. Reservations are now being accepted by calling 624-2669.

AS PART OF THE FIESTA CELEBRATION Anna Medrano and Steve Sougaria brought a pleasing Mexican atmosphere as they performed the "Waltz Dios Nunca Muere" — a birthday celebration and wedding dance.

Firemen halt grass fire in a hurry

Five trucks and 15 men answered a fire call to the Robert S. Ray home, 51 Paso Cresta, last Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Grass near an incinerator had caught on fire, but it was quickly put out. Fire chief Chip Collins said that only about 15 square feet of grass burned off, as the firemen promptly squelched any threat of a large blaze.

Chief Collins said that the fire was caused by sparks from an improperly screened incinerator.

This was the only fire alarm during the past week.

There were no first aid calls at all over the holiday weekend.

ART SHOW ON SATURDAY

A display of art work done by the children participating in the summer art class at the Community Youth Center will be shown this weekend on Pilot Road from noon to 5 p.m. (No prizes will be awarded but free punch will be served). The children's art class (ages 6 to 16 years) meets every Monday at the Youth Center from 3 to 5 p.m. A nominal 25¢ fee is charged.

PG&E Films Epic Battle in 'Storm'

The battle of Pacific Gas and Electric Company crews to keep power flowing during one of the worst winters in California history is dramatically told in a new film, entitled "Storm", which is now available free for public showings.

The 20 minute color documentary traces the formation of a storm and shows what happened when violent winds and heavy snow hit the Sierra and floods wreaked havoc in the lush valleys. The film is the saga of men struggling against the elements to keep vital power links open.

Jon F. Stanton, the company's prize winning cinematographer, worked alongside electric crews high in the Sierra during howling blizzards and in flooded areas of the valley to capture on film the full force of the storm's fury.

The 16 mm movie will be lent without cost to schools, service clubs and other groups through the PG&E Film Library, San Francisco, or local offices of the company.

Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church plays important role in community

BY CHARLES C. SCHOMBS

There rests in this Valley, below the hills turned golden in the summer sun a small, rural-type church which epitomizes the picturesque Spanish mission of early nineteenth century Mexico. Leaping out of the pages of Jose Marti and serving the Catholic members of the community, Our Lady of Mount Carmel was organized under the able guidance of Father Ignatius Laughran who has since moved from the Valley to establish St. Xavier's Church at Seaside, and from Seaside to his present residence in Taft. Most recent to leave the parish was Father Vincent Cowan who is now chaplain at Soledad Prison.

Father Douglas Keating, present administrator of the church, spent most of his college years in Kentucky, coming from a childhood spent in Detroit. After attending parochial schools in Detroit he later entered a religious community in Kentucky. Father Keating was ordained in 1951 and came to California 9 years ago, entering the diocese of Monterey-Fresno. His first assignment took him to the Old Mission in San Luis Obispo where he stayed for six years, then moving to the Holy Cross Church in Santa Cruz, serving the parish as assistant pastor. Later, he moved to Gonzales where he worked with the members of St. Theodore's. Father Keating is Administrator of the parish with equivalent powers as Pastor.

"It is the role of the church," according to Father Keating, "to make the church more relevant in the modern time."

The apparent causes of most of the ill-defined restlessness seems to be the same that are traveling the route of other denominations. Perhaps it is the general instability of the world as a whole and topped by man's constant search for a "divine benefactor" and his inability to find one that has led to the stupifying situation that plagues the worldly religions. Because of the Catholic church's hierarchal structure it has been the brunt of much of the unrest. It is because of the church's easily defined channels of deliverance that has led to its bearing the brunt of rebelliousness.

Among the problems is that of celibacy. Catholic priests are forbidden to marry. "Perhaps one day optional celibacy will be allowed but not at present. It would entail a financial restructure to support a family," said Father Keating.

SOME OF HIS VIEWS

In recent years dynamic men have come and gone. Perhaps one of the most dynamic of all political and humanitarian leaders which have found their way into the movements of the people has, and surely one of the most dynamic and compassionate of all church fathers was Pope John XXIII.

"Oh yes, Jolly John.....He was most human, and a true man of the people," said Father Keating.

"He was a great Pope and will no doubt be canonized," he continued.

FATHER DOUGLAS KEATING at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, established in 1947.

"An excellent definition of sin, understandable to modern man is that given by Bishop Fulton J. Sheen when he says 'sin is the ultimate refusal to love'. 'Love is the fulfillment of the law,' said Christ," Father Keating continued.

The role of the church according to Father Douglas Keating is to bring the "Good News", recalling man back to his basic obligations or ties to God.

What is the situation for man? "Man is forgetting what it is to be man," he said. "He has roots and time in eternity and he should not neglect the spiritual aspect of his life."

One of the most rewarding aspects of his priestly life led Father Keating into contact with the Reverend Fr. Thomas Merton. A long-time companion of Merton's, he read a short excerpt from a fellow priest written at the time of Merton's untimely death four months ago: "His warm smile, impish humor, dangerous driving, ineptitude for anything practical, his flares of indignation and seasons of melancholy, his prodigious insight and unprecedented wealth of erudition."

Concerning children, Father Keating said, "God left the trace of the original garden of paradise: the stars, the flowers and the eyes of a child."

Father Keating will lead a pilgrimage to the Holy Land beginning on September 10. From here the pilgrimage will go to Switzerland, then off to Athens with a seven day cruise of the Greek Isles, after which they will tour Jerusalem and other Holy Places. Before coming home from the 22-day excursion they will stop off in Rome and then head home via New York. All those interested in this pilgrimage should contact Father Keating at Our Lady of Mount Carmel, 659-2224.

CHURCH GROUPS

Our Lady of Mount Carmel recently selected 7 persons from the parish to sit on the Permanent Parish Council, a decision-making council which has included a fuller participation by the laity in the church proper. Included now on the newly instituted Permanent Parish Council are Louis Allaire, Dorothy Hatch, Don Cummings II, Larry Cummings, David Allard, William Broderick and Don Weber.

The church's women's club, called Sodality of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, has, as its major project, the care of the altar. This year the Sodality had the interior of the church repainted and redecorated with Mrs. Don Weber serving as chairman. The Sodality maintains a continual rummage sale in the church hall each afternoon as a means of revenue for the upkeep of the floral decorations at the altar. Mrs. Jean Quateroni is chairman of this rummage project and one can find her at the church hall each afternoon faithfully taking care of customers.

The Sodality also helped toward purchasing audio-visual materials for the youth education program of the parish church with religious classes staffed by the following members of the parish under the direction of Mrs. W. Gibb Hatch serving as coordinator: Mrs. David Hunter – 1st grade; Mrs. C.J. Reimer – 2nd grade; Mrs. Kevin Walsh and Mrs. Edward McGlochlin – 3rd grade; Mrs. J.M. Longfellow and Mrs. A.E. Heather – 4th grade; Mrs. Louis Allaire and Mrs. Bill Broderick – 5th grade; Jim Niemans, Dean Diaz and Mrs. Adolph Idol – 6th grade; Mrs. David Allard – 7th grade; Jim Kohnke – 8th grade; Ron Melanson and Larry Cummings – teenagers; with Mrs. Roger Sherman, Mrs. W.F. Neidinger, Mrs. Gertrude Stoney and Mrs. D.H. McFadden serving as audio-visual assistants.

The past officers for the Sodality were Mrs. Dee Gregory as president; Mrs. Byron Platter, vice president; Mrs. Larry Cummings, secretary; and Mrs. Bernard Cassidy, treasurer. Taking over as officers for the '69-'70 term are Mrs. Byron Platter, president; Major Billy Mans, vice president; Mrs. David Allard, secretary; and Mrs. J.M. Longfellow, treasurer.

As the Valley grows so must its churches and it is apparent that Our Lady of Mount Carmel is growing with and into the Valley scene.

Missionary from Borneo speaks to Valley group

George Munson, on leave from his Seventh-Day Adventist mission station in Borneo, spoke at the Los Laureles Lodge on Saturday to the Bible Study Group which meets there Saturday afternoons.

Munson was born in Borneo of missionary parents and has given his life to gospel work in the Far East. He spent eighteen years in Korea and became fluent in that difficult language. When transferred to Sabah, the northern tip of the island of Borneo where he was brought up, he found it less difficult to pick up the Malaysian language, for it soon came back to him after he had been there a few months.

The audience of between forty and fifty people was much entertained by the beautiful colored motion pictures taken by Mr. Munson. The civilizing influence of the gospel message was shown by pictures of the inhabitants before and after conversion. The women who had discarded the heavy brass rings which they formerly wore around necks, arms, and legs were grateful to be relieved of them. Former cannibals and head hunters are now not only dedicated Christians but also active missionaries to their own people. No longer is a young man compelled to collect three skulls to prove his manhood before he can claim his bride.

Many churches have been built, and also cabins called "land shelters" large enough to house about fifty people. These shelters are built for use as schools where the children can be protected from the frequent tropical storms while pursuing their studies.

Many Mohammedan influences are noticed in Borneo, and prayers to Allah are often heard. One of the pictures Mr. Munson showed was of a parade of horsemen in colorful costumes going out to meet their king.

The Munsons have been staying with relatives in Pacific Grove and are now visiting his parents in Napa before returning to Borneo in the fall.

Carmel Woman's Club

The Carmel Woman's Club will hold one meeting during each of the summer months of July, August and September. Members and guests are invited to the first gala affair which will be on July 14.

After dessert at 12:30, provision will be made for playing the game of one's choice, such as dominoes, bridge, canasta, cribbage, etc.

With Mrs. John Clymer, chairman, other hostesses are Mrs. Parker Adkinsson, Mrs. Viola Mills, Mrs. Ruth Watson, Mrs. C.B. Ninekirk and Mrs. John Menczkowski. They request members and guests to plan foursomes or twosomes and make the occasion an opportunity to greet old friends and make new ones.

Artist Studio Open House Tour to be held Saturday

A double delight awaits lovers of art and architecture who attend the forthcoming Artist Studio Open House tour, which will feature many of the artists and artisans "in action". First, the work to be shown displays a high degree of excellence and variety, and second, the studio-homes themselves are unusual and exciting – many enjoy spectacular marine views.

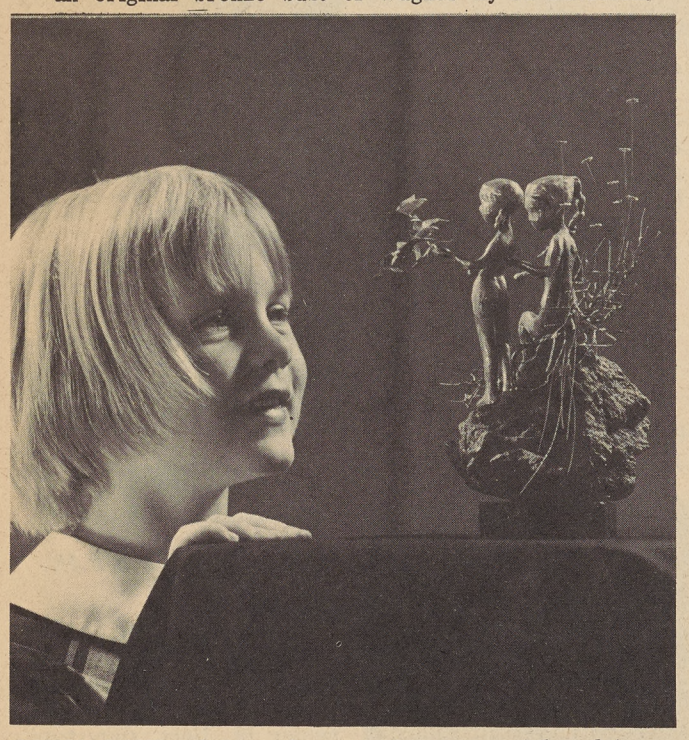
The Open House tour, which is arranged by the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, is scheduled for Saturday, July 12, from 11 to 5, and will wind through Carmel, Carmel Meadows, Carmel Highlands, and Yankee Point. The last stop will be at the Museum on Lincoln Street, Carmel, where tea will be served, against the background of an all-new one-man show by Ellwood Graham, president of the Carmel Art Association.

Tickets are $3 per person, $1.50 for children and military and may be obtained at the Museum or at any of the stops on the tour. Tickets will be used for a drawing of the door prize, during the tea, though it is not necessary to be present to win the prize, which is a new metal sculpture of great delicacy and charm, by Malcolm Moran of Carmel. The sculpture, which is valued at $250, is on display in the window at the Museum.

Chairman of this year's Studio "tour de force" is Mrs. Eugene E. Hurst, Coordinator is Mrs. O.L. (Mary Jane) Spence, Museum curator. Committee chairmen are: Mrs. Roderick Dewar for brochures, Miss Patricia Dick – hostesses, Mrs. Richard Wilsdon – posters, Mr. Albert Railton – publicity, Mrs. I. Norman Downer, assisted by the Fair Ladies of Carmel – tea, Mrs. Saul Weingarten – tickets, Col. and Mrs. E.H. Simpson – tour markers, Col. George E. Fletcher – transportation, Mrs. George E. Fletcher is acting as Advisor, and Mrs. John Nail – memberships.

The 11 stops on the tour include the following artists, artisans, their studio-homes and their Sunset Center studios:

1. In Sunset Center, San Carlos & 9th, Carmel
   a. The Friends of Photography – Ansel Adams, president. Will show the gallery of their Carmel Photography Center, featuring a special exhibit for the tour.
   b. Carmel Graphics Studio, where there will be continuous art-in-action by Claudia Peacock, Pat Carey and Dick Crispo.
   c. Barbara West, the actress-drama teacher-stage designer-artist. Her art-in-action – Studio 7.
   d. Robert Horne (Baron Konigsberg), metal sculptor and artist. His artistry-in-action – Studio 7.
2. Bernice Huber – potter, painter, art teacher. Torres & First, Carmel. Her artistry-in-action at the potter's wheel.
3. Fritz Abplanalp, sculptor-in-wood. Santa Rita & First, Carmel. He taught for 17 years in the Islands, where he was the first to teach the natives Monkey-pod carving. Sculpting on the patio of his charming Carmel cottage.
4. Hans Skaalegaard, painter known for his sailing ships. His studio home is on movie-mogul Fox's former estate at Hiway One & San Luis, Carmel.
5. Rosemary Minor, seascape painter, at 158 Ribera Rd., Carmel Meadows. The painter in action in her elegant contemporary home overlooking the sea.
6. Ruth Buol, jewelry designer and artisan, at Pradera & Meadow Way, Carmel Meadows. She will show her handcrafted enamels, her rare Matisse prints, her original Alexander Calder mobile and original sculpture by Giacometti and the noted Swiss sculptor, Louis Conne.
7. James Peter Cost, seascape painter, on Yankee Point Dr., Carmel Highlands. One of his paintings is on the cover of the June Reader's Digest. A handsome, contemporary home with an oriental accent and a great sea view. Mr. Cost's personal art collection includes an original bronze bust of Wagner by Jo Davidson.



DIANA LANG of Carmel gazes at a new metal sculpture done by Malcolm Moran of Carmel. Valued at $250, it will be given as a door prize at the Artist Studio Open House tour on Saturday. Tickets to the tour and tea are $3, $1.50 for children & military, and are available at the Museum or at any of the studio-homes on the tour. The metal sculpture shown here will be shown in the window of the Museum until tour day, when it will be awarded at the tea, at about 5 p.m. Not necessary to be present to win it.

Featured will be a new one-man show by Ellwood Graham, with Mrs. Graham assisting at the tea table, together with the women of the Museum Board and the wives of male members of the Board. Nancy Ballard, harpist, will play for the tea. Mrs. I. Norman Downer is Tea Chairman, assisted by the Fair Ladies of Carmel, sponsors. Mr. Graham will greet tour goers at the Museum from 11-5, tour day.

The Stock Market. Which way? When? How far?

Just published! A report on the market outlook—how it may affect your investment program and your investment decisions.

Our Economic Policy Committee has just published this quarter's market outlook report, "A Positive Investment Policy"®. The report deals with the suddenness and severity of the decline in the past several weeks, the probable effects of restrictive fiscal and monetary policies, and their likely negative impact on corporate earnings comparisons.

It finds that these factors and others may suggest opportunities for investors in high-quality stocks which are relatively insulated from sensitivity to general business conditions. It finds opportunity, too, in industrials which, though currently deflated, have demonstrated historically the ability to recover and appreciate. Other opportunities may lie in corporate and municipal bonds which are delivering all-time high yields.

Informed investors should have a copy of this timely document, which includes a list of recommended securities.

For your copy of "A Positive Investment Policy"® send the coupon below or stop by your nearest Dean Witter & Co. office. No obligation, of course.

Thrift Shop sales benefit SPCA

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will receive the proceeds of sales from the Community Thrift Shop, 538 Lighthouse Avenue, New Monterey, during the month of August.

This is the one big fund raising project during the year for the SPCA and will benefit the care and feeding of the animals at the shelter on the Salinas-Monterey Highway (across from Laguna Seca).

"Knick-knacks, jewelry, household goods, small furniture, good, saleable linens will all be welcome. For pick up or delivery please call 624-1053. Volunteers are also wanted and the same number may be called if you wish to give some time to this worthy project. The hours of the sales will be from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. daily.

"Our friends, the animals, need our help so your donations will be much appreciated, as will your willingness to help in the shop during our sale," an official said.

Community Hospital orders new linear acceleator

A linear accelerator for cancer treatment has been ordered by Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula.

Because it more efficient, a 4 million volt linear accelerator will replace a previously planned Cobalt 60 radiotherapy unit, Dr. A. Carol McKenney, president of the Board of Trustees of Community Hospital, said.

The new unit will be installed and in operation by October 1970.

Dr. Tom O. Morris, president of the Medical Staff of Community Hospital, said both the Medical Staff and Administration recommended the change to the trustees.

"The linear accelerator has many advantages over the Cobalt 60 unit including greater patient comfort, increased flexibility of treatment planning, and shorter treatment time," Dr. Morris said.

While the initial cost of the linear accelerator is $37,000 more than the $100,000 cobalt unit, the accelerator will be less expensive over a five-year period because of sizeable costs for the cobalt source replacement and service, Thomas E. Tonkin, administrator of the hospital, said.

Adequate funds are available to support the greater cost of the accelerator due to gifts for the cobalt therapy unit which now total $150,000, though the fund goal for the entire radiotherapy center has not been reached, Tonkin said.

During the first stages of planning for the new radiotherapy department which is part of the hospital's $4 million expansion now underway, a linear accelerator had not been considered because of prohibitive cost and bulk.

The radiologist said the linear accelerator provides more accuracy of beam positioning because of shorter treatment time required than with the cobalt 60 unit. The linear accelerator, Dr. Dahle said, also provides greater depth dose and more flexibility.

To pay special tribute to the late Robinson Jeffers

The late Robinson Jeffers, whose controversial works speak more to this generation than to his own, will be paid special tribute at the first annual Jeffers Memorial program at Monterey Peninsula College on July 25.

The event will begin at 7:30 according to program coordinator Elayne W. Fitzpatrick, with Dr. Robert J. Brophy, chairman of Jeffers Studies at Occidental College in Los Angeles, and professor of English at California State College at Long Beach, serving as host.

Featured on the program will be three half hour films on Jeffers including one focusing on Jeffers' poetry and its meaning in our time; another, "Rhapsody in Requiem" which is primarily biographical; and a third, "Give Your Heart to the Hawks" featuring recordings made by Jeffers in 1941 along with an assessment of the poet and his works by Dame Judith Anderson and novelist Walter Van Tilburg Clark.

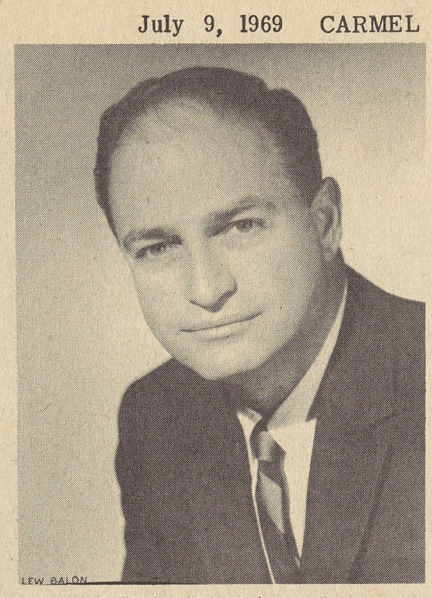
Jeffers was dedicated to presenting aspects of life that "modern" poetry has usually avoided. Influenced by Niestzche's comments, "The poets lie too much," Jeffers explained he was determined "not to tell lies in verse. Not to feign any emotion that I did not feel, not to pretend to believe in optimisn or pessimism, or unreversible progress; not to say anything because it was popular, or generally accepted, or fashionable in intellectual circles, unless I myself believed it; and not to believe easily."

Jeffers had a large circle of admirers in the '20s and '30s but his popularity waned during the '40s when his poetry spoke of matters considered "unpatriotic" and "pessimistic". But, as if led by his own words, "Let the poet not be distracted by the present; his business is with the future." Some observe that Jeffers speaks now as if with a voice of seer-vidicated.

Dr. Brophy will provide critique on the Peninsula poet and read some of his poetry, and Ernest Partridge, a Jeffers enthusiast who is playing classical guitar at Redwood Lodge in Big Sur, will play appropriate selections. Honored guests will include the Donnan Jeffers and the Garth Jeffers and their families, along with the Hamilton Jeffers.

Seating in the MPC auditorium will be limited to 240.

VIOLINIST Eudice Shapiro, known for past appearances in Carmel and one of the country's outstanding women violinists, will be featured along with Walter Trampler, viola player, and Mary Esther Nivola at an 11:00 recital held at the Parish Hall of All Saints Episcopal Church on Monday, July 21 and Tuesday, July 22.



SAN FRANCISCO tenor James Schwabacher, who enjoys an international reputation, will be presented at a recital on Thursday, July 24 at 11:00 a.m. at the Parish Hall of All Saints Episcopal Church as part of the Carmel Bach Festival. He will also appear in "The Passion According to Saint Matthew" on Sunday, July 20 & 27.

MEZZO-SOPRANO Joanna Simon will be featured in Bach's "The Passion According to Saint Matthew" in the Carmel Bach Festival.

Brandenburg Concerto to be featured at Bach Festival

Some of the greatest music of Bach and Mozart will be offered at the third evening of this year's Carmel Bach Festival, July 21 at 8:30 p.m. in Sunset Auditorium. The program will open with Bach's "Brandenburg Concerto No. 1 in F Major" last heard on a Festival program in 1966. It is the first rather than the last of the Brandenburg Concertos that offers a summary of procedures used on the other five.

Miss Eudice Shapiro, well known professor of violin at the University of Southern California and the Aspen Festival, will be soloist in Mozart's "Concerto for Violin in A Major, K. 219." This exuberant concerto treats the solo instrument almost as if it were a human voice in a spectacular operatic aria and incorporates in its finale a charming episode in the then-popular "Turkish" style.

Bach's "Trauer-Ode", an expansive work scored for four soloists, chorus and orchestra, will feature singers Mary Esther Nicola and Thomas Paul, both familiar to Festival audiences, and Leo Coeke and Joanna Simon making their first appearance on the Festival programs this year.

Information concerning this program as well as other Festival concerts and recitals may be obtained at the Bach Festival office, Room 3, Sunset Cultural Center or by writing to Box 503, Carmel.

Johann Sebastian Bach's great "Passion According to St. Matthew" will be performed twice during this year's Carmel Bach Festival. On Sunday, July 20th and again on Sunday, July 27th, audiences will have an opportunity of hearing this work of intense piety and devotion sung in the original German by soloists James Schwabacher as the Evangelist, Thomas Paul as Jesus, Marie Gibson, Joanna Simon, Leo Goeke and Richard Clarke.

The Festival Chorale and Chorus will be augmented by a children's chorus and the productions will be under the direction of Festival conductor Sandor Salgo. In the July 27th concert Douglas Lawrence will sing the role of Jesus.

Last presented on a Festival program in 1965, the St. Matthew Passion is one of Bach's more important choral works. It has survived in its entirety since its composition in 1729 and is universally regarded as the finer of the two Bach Passions.

Conductor Salgo will, for the first time, use a small baroque organ for most of the recitatives with a larger one used in the choruses. His decision to peform the Passion in the original German was based on a desire to preserve the careful relationship which the composer established between the sounds of the German text and his music. As in past years, the Passion will be absolutely complete and Maestro Salgo will pay special attention to the placement of his forces (divided choruses), the types of instruments employed and the varying size of the ensemble.

RODEO SEASON STARTS THIS WEEK

Rodeo season in Monterey County was ushered in today with the annual Big Hat barbecue sponsored by the Monterey County Sheriff's Possee at their grounds on Natividad road in Salinas.

The Big Hat barbecue at which more than a ton of steaks are consumed by rodeo fans is always the signal for the residents of Salinas to get out their big hats and cowboy boots as this modern city turns back the pages of history to the days of the old West.

This year it has a special significance because it is the start of an uninterrupted ten days of Western activities culminating with the big California Rodeo, July 17 through 20.

Helping to expand the celebration this year will be the California Rodeo's Country Music Festival on July 12 and 13. Other pre-rodeo events will include the Foley and Burk carnival, entertainment at shopping centers and industrial plants and the Kiddie Kapers parade in which more than 3,000 children from all parts of the county will participate Wednesday evening, July 16.

Laird tells club about C.V. Fire Department

At the Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club meeting last week, Don Laird, training officer of the Carmel Valley Fire Department, was guest speaker.

The Carmel Valley Fire Protection District, covering an area of nearly 10 square miles, employs two salaried members as well as 35 area volunteers. Equipment includes three pumpers, a rescue unit, an auxiliary unit and a fully equipped ambulance which operates in the territory from the Farm Center to Tassajara.

"Resusci-Ann", a life-like mannequin used as a training device for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and cardiac massage, was demonstrated by Laird with the help of Erasimo Belleci who also displayed the rescue unit.

Visitors included Dr. Paul Tocchet, Commander USN, who will soon return to civilian life to practice medicine in the Valley, and Don McIntyre, who will soon become a Kiwanian.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

"There is a long-range plan to extend the freeway a considerable way up Carmel Valley. Are you in favor of this plan, or do you think the present kind of road should be preserved?"

Carmel Valley residents, called at random, had this to say in reply to our question of the week:

Mrs. Al Giordano, 38 Upper Circle: "There have been quite a few accidents on the road as it is now. I would hate for the beauty to be disturbed. If they could preserve the beauty, then I think I would be in favor of it."

Nannette Trueblood, 43 Flight Rd.: "No. I think it would ruin the Valley by bringing in too much traffic."

Mrs. Paul E. Raymond, Robles Del Rio: "There is an awful lot of traffic on the road now, however, I know that something should be done. I suppose that we do need a better route into the city and if they can think of one then I suppose I'd be for it. I have been sitting on the fence with this one for a long time."

Mrs. Gerald Mapson, 367 Brookdale Dr.: "Gosh, I have mixed feelings on that. There are horrible traffic conditions on the road now, but I'd sure hate to think of a freeway coming through."

Elliot Johnson, E. Garzas Rd.: "I think there will have to be some sort of freeway sooner or later."

Charles M. Daniels, Carmel Valley Road: "I don't know. There's an awful lot of traffic on the road now – people exceeding the speed limit, and passing on curves.....It might be safer if a freeway were put in so that traffic could flow evenly in both directions. I guess it would be expensive to buy up the property though."

Mrs. Robert K. Byers, Los Laureles Grade: "I think the present road should be preserved. (Laughingly) I'm against progress."

Harrington E. Drake, Rio Vista Drive: "Yes, I am in favor of this plan. It is too congested during some parts of the day."

Mrs. Thomas Flock, Garzas Rd.: "No, I'm not really in favor of it. I would rather they leave the Valley as it is."

Mrs. Walter R. Newman, Rio Vista Dr.: "I'd be in favor of lowering the speed limit if that were possible. I'd be in favor of the freeway only because it would be safer and get people to their destination faster."

THE TOWN CRIER

ALL MOTORISTS using Carmel Valley Road should be extra cautious these days. Now that we are well into the fawning season, the young animals frequently wander onto the busy road. Since the does are bigger and faster they can make it safely across the road while the younger, uncertain fawns, easily confused and inexperienced, lag behind and can be struck by the unwary motorist. It has been suggested that someone spearhead a movement to have several signs erected along the road, at regular intervals and on both sides, warning motorists about deer on the road.

THE VIEW from Robles del Rio Lodge is one of the finer ones in Carmel Valley. Maybe too fine. When the Chamber of Commerce met there last week, all noticed a lot of activity on the opposite slope. It appears that whatever it is, the planning commission hadn't heard about it. And you don't mess up the Carmel Valley landscape without getting advance approval.

PARAMOUNT STUDIOS, TV Division, has just completed arrangements through Walter M. Spear, of Carmel, Locations Agent for the Hollywood Studios, to film a western this month in Carmel Valley. Title of the 90-minute feature is, "The Silent Gun", and actor Lloyd Bridges is being sought for the starring role. ABC Network will release the special under its "Movie of the Week" feature films.

Gem & Mineral Society to hold Barbecue and Sale

Emmett and Berniece Spencer will host a steak barbeque and white elephant sale at the Cal-American Filter Plant on Carmel Valley Road on Saturday, July 12 at 1:00 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Carmel Valley Gem and Mineral Society.

All those wishing to donate white elephants should contact the Spencers at 624-9020 if help is needed to get them to the sale.

Steak, French-bread, corn on the cob, butter, coffee, and lemonade will be furnished by the club with the net return after expenses going to the club's scholarship fund. Tickets are $1 for adults, and a 50¢ hot dog for the kids. Reservations should be made by calling Gale Holloway, 624-6280 or Berniece Spencer, 624-9020.

BOB WOOD REPORTS. . .

A Weekly Column by
Assemblyman Bob Wood – 34th District

I feel it is my obligation as your new assemblyman to report back to you, at least once a week, and keep you posted as to just what is going on here at the Capitol in Sacramento. The weekly reports will be based strictly on legislation (non-political) as well as personal incidents here at the Capitol.

For the last two and one-half years as a County Supervisor in District 3, I wrote a small column for all of the South county weekly papers twice monthly. I'm not much of a journalist, and will probably have to call on some legislative analyst to help me on the off weeks, but I'll do my best, and continue along these lines until I hear differently from you people within Monterey County.

I know it's hard to believe, but I'm writing this tonight while sitting at my desk along with 79 other legislators here in the Assembly chambers. A look at the clock shows it is now 3:15 a.m., Tuesday morning. The Legislature is very much in session, and the Republicans and Democrats are battling (verbally) back and forth hassling over the 6.2 billion dollar State Budget. As of this moment, in the Senate, both Republicans and Democrats have approved a budget, but here in the Assembly, only the Republicans have approved the Budget. The Democrats in the Assembly have asked for certain stipulations which have not been agreed to as of this moment.

I hope by the time this column reaches you, cool heads will prevail and a sound budget will result including a practical property tax reform program, with adequate monies for school needs where it can be proven they are needed, and methods of financing both of these programs without having to raise State taxes.

I hadn't been sworn in for more than 20 minutes, and was sitting behind my desk, when some legislator approached me and spent considerable time explaining to me that this pet bill of his had just passed out of some committee. The people talk about their pet bill like you and I would talk about our pet dog or cat. When the man left, I was a little confused. Many years ago I had played high school football and some college football, and although I spent considerable time on the bench, we all knew that when a man passed out, he usually had been knocked unconscious and that was the end of the line for that man, at least for that particular game. So I presumed that if a bill passed out of a committee, it was dead for the time being at least, but I soon learned differently. Up here, if a bill passes out of a committee, that means that it has been approved by that committee, that it is very much alive and has been sent to another committee or back to the Assembly or Senate for consideration.

Each week from now on, I will try to touch briefly on some of these bills, especially those that directly affect our area or affect you and I as citizens and taxpayers.

Enough for now.....

BOB WOOD

Participate in county teacher intern program

Two Carmel Valley residents are participating in the Monterey County Office of Education teacher intern program, according to County Schools Superintendent Ed Coffin.

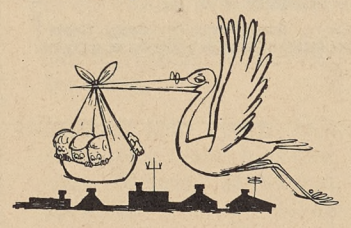
Mrs. Julie Risdon of 21 Meadow Place and Miss Liliana M. Gardner of Blue Sky Lodge are enrolled in the two-year program combining classroom instruction and practical experience leading to an elementary teaching credential.

The intern program is designed for college graduates who wish to become teachers but have had little or no previous experience in elementary education.

In the project's first phase, interns are working in summer school classrooms gaining experience with children. An afternoon intern seminar is conducted at Greenfield School under the auspices of Pepperdine College by County Office of Education staff members Dr. Keith Collier and Mrs. Heloise Dales.

Many County Office of Education professional staff members will be involved in instructing and supervising the interns.

Mrs. Risdon is working at Chualar School and Miss Gardner is in the King City Elementary School District.



Mr. and Mrs. William Gorham of 50 Flight Road welcomed a daughter, Suzanne Lu Gorham, on June 26, 1969 at the Community Hospital of the Monterey Peninsula.

Monterey County Fair has something for everyone

One part recreation, one part entertainment, one part education and totally Monterey County – that's the Monterey County Fair, coming August 6 through 10.

The fair is Monterey County's show window to the world reflecting the essence which makes Monterey unique among California's counties.

Monterey County Fair even looks different from other fairs, often hot, dry and dusty. Located on the edge of its busy namesake city, its lush green lawns and giant oaks hem it away from metropolitan bustle, creating a rural island of peace clipped out from Freeway traffic and municipal commerce.

To accent that difference Fair Manager George Wise has called on Monterey County artists to create decor to accent the Fair's uniqueness. Their answer has been splashes and pools of color in placards, posters and design.

That decor is keyed each year to the Fair theme. This year the total effect is "flowing gold" to underscore the legendary history of the days of Calafia and her race of Amazons whose weapons and armor were fashioned of solid gold, because "in that Island of California there was no other metal" according to an early Spanish romance.

Queen Calafia and her court will be recreated in the sextet of "Amazons", none of them less than six feet tall in her stocking feet, who will greet fairgoers during the five-day August event.

Agriculture and its twin, home arts, continue to dominate the fair's displays and exhibits. There are 44 separate competitive events for the farmer, featuring products of field, garden and livestock barns. There are 399 events in which the farmer's wife – or his son and daughter – may display their talents in the household arts.

The beauty and variety of Monterey County's flowers, and the interest of Monterey County residents in nurturing them, has developed a floriculture department which is outstanding. The special classes for orchids, potted plants, ferns and container gardens reflect the interests and talents of the hobbyists whose gardening enthusiasm leads them down different paths.

The arrangements section of the floriculture division, this year keyed to geographic sections of California as the Central Valley, Peninsula, San Francisco and Central Coast, yearly draws more imaginative entries.

Junior displays ranging from pickles to insect pests, from Holstein bulls to lined draperies, annually make up a large part of the Fair's displays. The junior livestock auction, this year to be August 9, is a high point of each fair.

Reflecting Monterey County's renown as the home and workshop of artists, there is an art show which holds an enviable reputation among the state's fairs.

Mirroring the interest of county residents in the out-of-doors there is a five-day horse show at the fair. This year there are events scheduled from early morning until late at night, with separate programs planned on a three-shows-a-day schedule.

Monterey County's show window – that's the Monterey County Fair. It is of equal appeal to Monterey County's vacationing visitors or to the Monterey County resident who will vacation at home this year.

Alliance Francaise

L'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula will celebrate France's Bastille Day on the 13th of July since it is on a Sunday.

The location chosen for the picnic or "fete champetre" is on the grounds of the California Water Co.'s Filter Plant in Carmel Valley, 2-1/2 miles beyond the Village. Turn right at the State Forestry Fire Station. The party starts at five o'clock. Signs will mark the way.

Members of the Alliance and their guests will bring their own basket suppers and wine will be furnished by the Alliance. Coffee and soft drinks will also be brought by individuals. For information and reservations, please telephone the acting president of l'Alliance, Mrs. John Dowdakin at 659-2356; Mrs. Richard Burton at 373-0568; or Mrs. Sorin Issvoran at 373-0922.

Day Care Centers are sought

Establishment of sufficient publicly supported Day Care Centers is necessary to reduce the dependency of people on welfare on the Monterey Peninsula Only with such Day Care Centers will low-income parents be able to accept employment and job training. Such was the conclusion reached and recently reported to the Board of Supervisors by the League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula after a year's study of the problem.

The League believes that in the establishment of Day Care Centers, State and National funds should be used to the extent available and that local government should contribute as much as its resources permit. Individual citizens and private organizations should become more aware of the need for Day Care Centers and help develop, finance, and operate them.

Saturday is deadline for entering Fair exhibits

Imaginations are increasing in tempo or are being worked overtime in Monterey County this week.

That's because communities and organizations have only until 5:00 p.m. Saturday (July 12) to enter the feature exhibits for the Monterey County Fair, to be held August 6 through 10.

Entries must be at the Monterey Fairgrounds or postmarked by Saturday. Mailed entries should be addressed to Post Office Box 1151, Monterey.

Theme for this year's fair is "Calafia – The Legend". It refers to the mythical Queen of the Amazons, who was believed to have lived on the "Island of California" in the days when the new world was still more legend than fact.

"This race of Amazons, thought to be black, who were mighty warriors who tamed the griffins –half eagle and half lion – and whose weapons and armor were of gold, because no other metal was available in their land, offers a multitude of possibilities for some highly creative feature booth entries," points out Fair Manager George T. Wise.

There are two types of entry in this division – a Variety Booth and a Special Booth.

Variety Booths are divided into three sections of competition – booths at least 300 square feet in size, at least 200 square feet and at least 100 square feet. These booths are limited to exhibits displaying "the advantages and diversity of the agricultural products grown in the county, community or area represented," the Fair premium book reminds.

Products displayed must have been produced by members of the community or organization represented. A typewritten or printed list of products in the booth, arranged alphabetically or separated by classes, must be included with the exhibit.

The Special Booths will display an "agricultural product, process or procedure" common to the area sponsoring the exhibit. Purpose of this booth, the premium book says, is to "inform the public of the value and desirability" of the product or process.

Special booths must be at least 100 square feet in size.

Further information about either category of booth is available at the Fair office (372-5863).
